PRESS RELEASE:

Embargoed until 00.00 Friday 17 October 2008

Launch of www.clinicalacademicjobs.org recruitment website

The Dental Schools Council has today launched a recruitment website for clinical academic jobs in UK Dental schools. www.clinicalacademicjobs.org is a non-profit website which enables job seekers to search free of charge for current clinical academic, teaching and research opportunities across the UK's undergraduate and postgraduate dental schools.

The aim of the website is to support schools in their recruitment for dental clinical academics, whilst acting as a vital career resource for the current and future academic workforce. In addition, job seekers will have access to relevant organisations offering funding and training for clinical academic careers.

The website is managed in partnership between the Dental Schools Council and the Medical Schools Council and is endorsed by medical and dental schools throughout the UK.

The Dental Schools Council works to improve and maintain quality in basic dental education, clinical dental training and dental research, and to facilitate sharing of experience.
